INTRODUCTION:

Galápagos National Park straddles the equator 600 miles west of Ecuador's Pacific coast. Undisturbed for centuries and isolated from the mainland, unusual species of birds, plants, reptiles and some mammals developed on the rocky, volcanic atolls of the Enchanted Isles. Darwin's visit and subsequent studies of the island's flora and fauna in 1835 contributed to the formulation of his theory on the evolution of species and brought this fascinating ecosystem to the attention of the world. The park, Ecuador's largest, was established in 1959 to protect the archipelago's unique environment and wildlife. Its landmass consists of nearly 3,000 square miles which is divided between 6 large islands, 12 smaller islands, and over 40 islets. In 1986, the creation of the Marine Resources Reserve expanded the preserved area to include more than 27,000 square miles of ocean. This exciting program offers a great value in the archipelago, featuring an unbeatable 5-day cruise itinerary, aboard one of the most well-appointed vessels in these waters.

After a night in Guayaquil, we tour this historical and vibrant city. Following a morning flight to Baltra Island, we begin the cruise aboard our comfortable 48-passenger, superior expedition ship. Accompanied by some of the best English-speaking naturalist guides in the Galápagos, we learn about the natural history of these enchanted islands by visiting important central and northern islands. Learn about fascinating species such as marine and land iguanas, giant tortoises and blue-footed boobies. Swim with Galápagos penguins and have the chance to snorkel with sea lions and fur seals! While enjoying beautiful views of white sand beaches caressed by turquoise waters, be awed by the powerful forces of nature. Following our cruise, fly back to Guayaquil and connect to Lima. The following morning we fly to Cusco where we spend a couple of days exploring impressive Inca sites such as the Coricancha, Sacsayhuaman, Chinchero and Ollantaytambo. A visit to Pisac is another opportunity to experience and shop in a colorful Andean market before taking the Vistadome train to Machu Picchu. Spending the night at the most exquisite hotel in town we have plenty of time for in-depth explorations of the Incas' Lost City before returning to Cusco and Lima.

Ecuador & Peru: Galápagos and Machu Picchu

DAY-BY-DAY ITINERARY:

DAY 01 (SAT): USA / GUAYAQUIL

Arrive this evening to Ecuador's coastal, vibrant and commercial center city of Guayaquil, located at the western banks of the Guayas River. A Southwind representative greets you on arrival and bring you by private vehicle to one of the city's finest hotels just 20 minutes away, the centrally located Oro Verde for the night.

DAY 02 (SUN): GUAYAQUIL

The full day city tour of Guayaquil starts with a stop at the historical park, a glimpse into the beginnings of this important port city, as well as its lively present-day culture and natural environment. The park's gardens burst with the region's endemic flora. It is also an ideal location to learn about the birds, reptiles, and mammals of this region. Then we go for a short walk to the Southern Malecon 2000, a boardwalk overlooking the Guayas River, where you'll peruse the Integration Plaza with its famous Southern Marketplace and Cristal Palace. Lunch is included at a traditional Ecuadorian restaurant with samples of fine local cuisine. Next, visit the Olmedo Plaza and see the monument to Jose Joaquin Olmedo, a recognized Ecuadorian poet. We also stop at the Morisca Tower for excellent views of the city and the famous monument to the four elements of the planet. For our final visit of the day, we head over to the oldest sectors of the city, the colonial neighborhood of Las Peñas (declared as Cultural Heritage in 1982) where we can admire the magnificent wood architecture. From here you'll have the opportunity to climb up to the Cerro Santa Ana for a breathtaking view of Guayaquil and the Guayas River. Overnight at the Oro Verde hotel. (B,L)

DAY 03 (MON): GUAYAQUIL / BALTRA ISLAND / SANTA CRUZ (GALAPAGOS)

Pick up at the hotel and return to the airport this morning. Our guide assists with check-in for the two-hour commercial jet flight to Baltra Island. Upon arrival, pass through inspection where park officials ensure no foreign plants or animals are introduced to the islands. Meet your naturalist guides and transfer to the Itabaca Channel, taking a small ferry across the Channel to the north shore of Santa Cruz Island. We board our bus to the highlands of Santa Cruz, where we'll learn about the unique montane ecosystems and biodiversity. This island has a variety of geology, wildlife, vegetation, and contains all of the Galápagos life zones. The coastal zone is only a few meters and the plant life is greatly influenced by the presence of salt. Red, white, black, and button mangrove are found along the coast. The dry zone can be remarkably arid from May to December (garua season) when only the southeast side of the volcanoes get any precipitation, and even then it is only a fine mist (garua). Here we can see the beauty of how various species have adapted to these extremely dry conditions, giving us a variety of cacti. Lunch is served at a local restaurant. Afterwards, we travel by bus to the El Chato Reserve on Santa Cruz, one of the best places in the archipelago to see giant tortoises in their natural habitat. The tortoises are easy to spot, lumbering around, eating grass and leaves and wallowing in the small pools. There are several lava tunnels in the reserve, too. A short bus ride takes us down to Puerto Ayora where we catch our zodiac, or small motorized dinghy, to the comfortable M/Y La Pinta. After our crew welcomes us aboard there is a briefing and safety drill. On board we receive a welcome cocktail before dinner.

Note: please dress with walking shoes and comfortable clothes and be ready for touring. Bring a daypack with any medicines, sunblock, raincoat, water, insect repellent and anything you may need during the excursion as your main luggage will be unavailable until you board La Pinta at the end of the day. (B,L,D)

DAY 04 (TUE): SANTA CRUZ ISLAND

After breakfast, a zodiac ride takes us to Eden Islet, located off the Western coast of Santa Cruz. This site has no landing area; the main attraction is its incredible marine life. Here we can observe the graceful blue-footed boobies diving into the water to spear fish, Nazca boobies, marine iguanas, pelicans, lava gulls, reef sharks, rays and frigates. Ashore a variety of birds can be seen across mangrove and rocks, striated herons and perhaps flamingos. There's a chance to snorkel and, if weather permits, ride in the glass-bottom boat. We then depart the island for a delightful lunch on board, later on we stop at the tiny island of Sombrero Chino which gets its name from its appearance: a Chinese hat. This islet, only formed fairly recently, makes a beautiful visit with its quarter-mile trail, which begins at a crescent-shaped white sandy beach nestled discreetly in the sheltered cove between Sombrero Chino and Santiago. Sea lions and American oystercatchers often frequent this beach. The trail continues along the coastline of the cove, passing beside the island's characteristic lava terrain and colorful pioneer vegetation and offering glimpses of lava lizards, marine iguanas, and Sally Lightfoot crabs battling the changing tides. The trail ends at the island's rocky shore, which is spattered with scenic tide pools lined with green algae and marine iguana passersby during the cool season. The cove offers excellent swimming and snorkeling opportunities in tranquil blue waters with sea lions, white-tipped reef sharks, Galápagos penguins and tropical fish. We return to the ship for dinner and a preview of tomorrow's activities. (B,L,D)

Ecuador & Peru: Galápagos and Machu Picchu

DAY 05 (WED): BARTOLOME AND SANTIAGO ISLANDS

This morning, a Galápagos icon awaits: Bartolomé Island. A great way to start the day, with a steep ascent up 375ft in elevation following a wooden path on a dormant volcano, the geological features and soils here are very delicate and under preservation. The spectacular panoramic view from the top is worth the effort! The island is a truly unique lava landscape, complete with pioneer plants like the candelabra cactus. It's dotted with craters, cinder cones, lava flows, spatter cones and broken lava tunnels which run down from the summit. Back at the shore, we take to the dinghies for a ride around Pinnacle Rock, the eroded remains of an old volcanic tuff cone, followed by time to enjoy the beach and some snorkeling with sea lions and maybe even penguins! A small colony of penguins breeds in the small bay, making this site one of the best places to see them. We can also ride in the glass-bottom boat for great views of the underwater world. Sea turtles have chosen this place as a nesting site, and white-tipped reef sharks are also seen. We return to La Pinta for a delicious lunch. Afterwards, we board the zodiacs to land at Sullivan Bay on the east coast of Santiago, a white coral sand beach great for swimming and snorkeling. This is a good area to spot black and white oystercatchers, lava herons and sally light-foot crabs. Follow almost a mile-long trail over a dark lava field that flowed here less than 100 years ago. This is the perfect place to see and feel the volcanic origin of Galápagos and learn about the Pahoehoe lava flows (solidified lava in corrugated form), while observing its wildlife. Tonight's expedition briefing reveals interesting sites for the day ahead. (B,L,D)

DAY 06 (THU): GENOVESA ISLAND

In the morning, we begin our exploration of this island at Darwin Bay, a flooded caldera of an extinct volcano, with an easy stroll to observe marine and land birds. Highlights are the nesting colonies of the common frigate, the Nazca booby and the swallow-tailed gulls. We also find nests of red-footed booby in the largest nesting colony of Galápagos for pelagic birds. Red-footed boobies are the only members of the Gannet and Booby family known to nest in trees. The nests are fairly solid structures of twigs, feathers and guano. Birds lay a single egg and both sexes incubate and fend for the young. Swallow-tailed gulls feed at night on squid and fish. They usually nest in cliffs and rocks, but here they do so on sand to camouflage their black spotted eggs. The Great Frigatebird is abundant here and is one of the main attractions of the island. Yellow-crowned Night Herons are also found here. Genovesa has no reptiles, possibly due to lack of proper conditions for the nesting of these vertebrates. There is an optional walk over sharp lava and uneven terrain for dramatic views, or we can return to the beach to enjoy swimming and snorkeling at this beautiful natural harbor. The more adventurous can snorkel along the cliffs or paddle sea kayaks. Following an alfresco lunch onboard La Pinta, the afternoon starts with a very interesting zodiac ride along the cliffs looking for fur seals and several species of seabirds. Then we disembark (dry landing) for a short but steep climb up a wooden staircase, the Prince Philippe Steps. Once at the top, the land is flat with a thin Palo Santo forest, allowing for a captivating walk of about a mile to the other side of this 5 square-mile island, observing large colonies of Nazca boobies, frigate birds and storm petrels. You can see two species of petrels that nest in cavities and holes in the lava. One is the wooden petrel, which feed during the night, and the other is the Galápagos petrel that is active during the day. One of its main predators is the short-eared owl. Following this afternoon excursion we return to the yacht for dinner and the next day's plan. (B,L,D)

DAY 07 (FRI): BALTRA ISLAND / GUAYAQUIL / LIMA

After breakfast and a splendid sunrise, we say goodbye to our crew and disembark (dry landing) at Baltra Island where we transfer to the airport to take the flight back to Guayaquil. Arriving in the afternoon, we're met at the airport by a Southwind representative and assisted with catching our 2-hour evening flight to Lima, Peru. Upon arrival in Lima's Jorge Chavez airport, our friendly staff meets you and assists with check-in at the Costa del Sol Hotel near the international terminal. (B)

DAY 08 (SAT): LIMA / CUSCO / SACRED VALLEY

We're picked up at the hotel early this morning and accompanied to the airport to catch the one-hour flight to Cusco, the former Inca capital. You are met at the airport and we drive one-hour to Pisac in the Sacred Valley of the Incas. The route follows a winding mountain road providing superb vistas of the rugged canyon formed by the Urubamba River. Descending into the warm valley, our first stop is the town of Pisac (9,708') where we visit the main square and some craft shops. Artists and vendors set up their stalls around the main plaza to sell food and colorful handicrafts. We enjoy a delicious Andean lunch and later on tour Pisac's impressive Incan ruins, perched spectacularly on a ridge overlooking the town and countryside. The walking tour is about 2 miles and follows a wide, exposed, stone-paved trail high above the valley. We visit the main sections of the site including the religious center Intihuatana, or Hitching Post of the Sun. Observing dozens of agricultural terraces, these formations were aesthetically built to follow the contours of the hillside rising from the Urubamba River valley. We continue down the valley to Urubamba and check-in to the charming Andean hacienda-style, Sol y Luna Lodge & Spa. Relax a bit before dinner together this evening. (B,L,D)

Ecuador & Peru: Galápagos and Machu Picchu

DAY 09 (SUN): CHINCHERO / OLLANTAYTAMBO

This morning, we drive back up to the highlands, enjoying panoramic views of the snow-capped Urubamba range including Mount Veronica and Pitusiray, both over 18,000 feet high. We arrive midmorning at Chincheró (12,335'), a charming community characteristic of Andean towns in that it combines both Incan and colonial architecture. We observe a massive Inca wall with ten trapezoidal niches, which dominates the village's main square, and visit the colonial church. After exploring the ruins of Inca Yupanqui's palace, we join a local community in their courtyard for an overview of the Andean weaving process. After wool is carded, spun, and dyed, learn about the different techniques used to create ponchos, belts (fajas), and shawls (mantas). On the way back to the fertile Urubamba Valley we stop at the Inca Salt Mines, then continue in our private vehicle to enjoy a buffet-style Andean lunch. Here we have a chance to sample a variety of native delicacies including: several types of potatoes (tubers such as oca); quinoa (sacred to the Incas, referred to as the "mother of all grains"); fava beans; and perhaps try a taste of cuy, a savory meat roasted with a variety of herbs traditionally used in fertility celebrations. Afterwards, we drive past burial tombs and ancient farming terraces still in use today to grow barley, wheat, and corn to reach the town of Ollantaytambo. We visit the main plaza and some of the side streets of this unique community which still retains the original street plan and foundations designed by the Incas. We'll explore the impressive terraced remains of the Sun Temple before returning to the peaceful comforts of the Sol y Luna Lodge & Spa in Urubamba to relax and unwind. (B,L)

DAY 10 (MON): MACHU PICCHU

We head back to Ollantaytambo early this morning to catch the Vistadome train for the 1.5 hour ride to Machu Picchu town (formerly Aguas Calientes). Ascending to Machu Picchu (7,874') by bus, we join our expert guide for a private tour of this superb archaeological site. Perched atop a crest high above the meandering Urubamba River and surrounded by rugged, green Andean hillsides, Machu Picchu stands as more than just the jewel of Inca architecture. It represents the perfect union of human engineering and the natural environment, a city in harmony with its surroundings. Never reached by the Spanish, this magical place was brought to the world's attention in 1911 by the American historian, Hiram Bingham. Our explorations of The Lost City of the Incas include all of the various sectors of the ruins: the industrial area, the Temple of the Sun and the Royal Tomb, the ceremonial water fountains and baths, and the Sacred Plazas. There should be time in the afternoon for the 30-minute walk to the Inca Drawbridge. We stay at the charming Inkaterra Machu Picchu Hotel (situated in 12 acres of secluded cloud forest garden along the Urubamba River), where we partake in a Novoandino cuisine dinner this evening. (B,L,D)

DAY 11 (TUE): MACHU PICCHU / CUSCO

Rising early, those who wish may head back to the ruins to catch the early morning light as the sun comes up over Intipunku, or the Gateway of the Sun. Afterwards, there are several optional hikes available in and around the site for more ambitious group members. At 8,860' Huayna Picchu, or Young Peak, looms over the citadel. An optional 1 hour climb along a very steep and exposed trail ends at terraces and ruins on the mountain's top, providing an excellent, bird's-eye view of Machu Picchu. Another 1.5 hour up and downhill hike on a shaded trail ends at the mysterious, partially excavated Temple of the Moon. Since the schedule is flexible, those who prefer can relax or explore their favorite spots at their own pace. We meet together for lunch before catching the early afternoon Vistadome train for the 1.5 hour scenic journey back to Ollantaytambo. Tracing the course of the Urubamba River, we wind our way past Inca terraces and Quechua communities as we leave the lush cloud forests and make our way back to the highlands. Reception upon arrival and transfer by private vehicle to Cusco (11,150') and the historic Libertador Palacio del Inka Hotel. Dinner is on your own this evening to try some of the gourmet restaurants in town. (B,L)

DAY 12 (WED): CUSCO

After breakfast, we enjoy a private orientation tour (combination of walking and vehicle) of this friendly, historical city. As we explore the main plaza and side streets, we realize that Cusco is still a very colonial city. There are no skyscrapers and most buildings are whitewashed adobe with red tile roofs set on Inca foundations. Cobble streets lead up narrow passageways with brightly painted balconies overhead. Small plazas are filled with flowers and fountains. Our visits include such impressive sites as the Coricancha, the Inca's Sun Temple; the main square and cathedral, many of whose stones were taken from nearby Inca palaces; and the Incan walls along Hatunrumiyoc Street, which is named for the 12-angled stone that is clearly visible. Driving up to the surrounding hills we explore the Incan fortress of Sacsayhuaman, a spectacular complex with commanding views of the Cusco valley, and time permitting, Tambo Machay, whose ceremonial pools have remained clear and cold since the time of the Empire. We return to the Libertador Palacio del Inka Hotel with lunch on your own and the remainder of the afternoon available for personal activities. Tonight, you may try the hotel's Inti Raymi restaurant for a delicious dinner and pisco sour, a traditional Peruvian drink. (B)

Ecuador & Peru: Galápagos and Machu Picchu

DAY 13 (THU): CUSCO / LIMA / USA

Morning at leisure to explore Cusco's colorful San Pedro market and the many side-street craft shops, museums and plazas. We are picked up at the hotel late-morning for the drive to the airport in Cusco to catch the flight back to Lima. Upon arrival we join our local guide for a private tour of colonial Lima and the fascinating Larco Herrera Museum with an extensive collection of pre-Columbian artifacts. Lunch and dinner are on your own to try a typical seafood meal such as ceviche at one of the several fine restaurants in the upscale Miraflores district. Participants leaving tonight have a return transfer to the airport this evening. (B)

DAY 14 (FRI): USA

Arrive in the US this morning and make onward connections home.

Special charters of the M/Y La Pinta (or any of our other vessels) are available for private parties. We suggest making charter arrangements 1.5-2 years in advance and would be happy to provide you with prices and more information.

WEATHER: The Galápagos Islands have a surprisingly cool, sub-tropical climate. Weather is regulated by the cold Humboldt Current (flows north-westward along western coast of South America and out to the islands) during the dry season and the warm waters from the Panama Basin during the wet season. The islands only receive an average of 10" of rain per year so it is never "rainy". Temperatures vary according to the strength of the trade winds.

December – June: Cooling currents subside and temps rise. Many consider this the hot/wetter season. Daytime highs are upper 80's-low 90's and 70's at night. The water temp is at its warmest (ave 72-76°F). Feb-Apr have the highest precipitation levels (1-2"/month), rest of year is less than 1"/month.

July – November: The trade winds pick up and the climate becomes cool and breezy. Many consider this the cool/drier season. Daytime air temp ave is 73°F and 62°F at night. The ave water temp is 68°F. The sea can be a bit choppy during these months and the sky can be misty, a phenomenon locally called "garua."

TEMPERATURES	JAN	FEB	MAR	APR	MAY	JUN	JUL	AUG	SEP	OCT	NOV	DEC
MAX AIR TEMP	84	86	88	86	82	78	76	74	76	77	78	80
MIN AIR TEMP	70	74	74	72	72	68	66	64	62	64	66	68
AVE SEA TEMP	74	76	76	76	74	74	72	66	68	70	72	74
AVE RAINFALL	1	1	2	1.5	0.75	0.25	0.5	0.25	0.5	0.25	0.5	0.5

Temperatures are given in degrees Fahrenheit and rainfall amounts are in inches.

Cusco: The second half of the trip is in mountainous regions where weather conditions change suddenly. The best policy for enjoying such capricious weather is to be prepared for all possibilities ranging from intense sunshine to rain, cold, and/or wind. Generally the Andean climate during the months of April-November is clear, dry and cool, but as this program includes time in the cloud forests on the eastern slopes of the Andes, rain should be expected anytime. Brief hail, sleet or snow storms might also occur at the highest elevations anytime. Andean nights are cold, while the days are pleasant and springlike. Cusco has daytime highs in the mid-70's and nighttime lows in the upper 30's. Both daytime and nighttime temperatures in the Sacred Valley are about 10-15° warmer. The Cusco region gets more precipitation (averaging 4-6 inches/month) during the wet season, December-March, when high temperatures average between the mid-60's & 70 degrees during the day and mid-40s at night. The likelihood of rain at Machu Picchu is high. Expect showers, overcast days or mist on most departures. The daytime temperatures in the Lost City are hot (78-85°F), with mild nights (lows around 45-50°F). The sun is quite intense at these elevations, (and in the Galápagos), so a good sun hat along with sunscreen is needed to prevent severe sunburns. Insect repellents such as Skintastic or Skin-so-Soft or long pants are a wise choice to guard against the no-see-ums at Machu Picchu.
